

Dr. Mia Tova Minen (MSPH '03) is Chief of Headache Research and an Associate Professor in the Departments of Neurology and Population Health at NYU Langone Health. Her research focuses on improving migraine diagnosis and management across medical specialties. She has NIH funding, has over 50 publications and serves as Headache Section Co-Head for Pain Medicine and as an Associate Editor for the journal Headache. In addition, she co-authored migraine guidelines and serves on the American Academy of Neurology Guidelines Committee. Dr. Minen has significant board leadership experience, including serving as an American Headache Society Board Member as Overall Chair of the American Headache Society Special Interest Groups. While at Barnard College she had the opportunity to take a graduate level course "Introduction to Epidemiology" at Mailman and fell in love with public health. This prompted her to complete her MPH at Mailman before attending medical school. She is a strong believer in advocacy and in mentorship and looks forward to working with others on the Mailman School of Public Health Alumni Board.
